Secure Password Tutorial: How to Create a Secure Password

Password security is a very important issue that many people overlook. In this day and age, it is critical to use a strong password whether it's protecting your computer, or online accounts, it has to be a strong password in order for your information to be safe.

What Not To Use

Many users use in their passwords things from personal life, such as:

1. names
2. birthdays
3. dates

You should try not to use obvious things from your life, such as names, birthdays or other dates. A user who knows some details about you may be able to guess your password.

Make Use Of Characters/Symbols

In order to make a strong password, it's recommended that you use all types of characters and symbols for example:

Lower Case - a,b,c,d

Upper Case - A,B,C,D

Symbols - @,#,$,%^,

Numerals - 1,2,3,4

Alt Characters - Å, €

A good password contains upper/lower case characters, numerals, and symbols.

Inversed Words

Some people think it's good to write a word inversed. Such as admin, could come nimda. Password crackers will try to reverse all the words, so it's not a good idea to write inversed words. It's still easy to crack a normal word, even if it's inversed.

TIPS

- Use different passwords for different accounts
- If you want to write down passwords, make sure it's placed in a safe place.
- If you do use a public computer, always log out from all your accounts.
- Try not to use passwords from 'password generating sites'

Conclusion

The best password is one that you can come up on your own with, not one that's created by a password generator. Only you can decide what the best password is for you.
